

This has been a day for feeling sick, trying to sleep until the thunder sent me leaping out of bed. Wanting to write, but the Jovian level lightning meant I didn't dare turn on the computer. And finally just absorbing the absurdity of it all.

I already posted the link to the positively brilliant Transformers review, but now I have to address the latest political whimsy. Mark Sanford, Governor of South Carolina had an affair because of -- wait for it -- Barack Obama.

Yeah, so says Rush Limbaugh. You can't make this shit up.