

I realized I hadn't seen any comments come through for approval, and then we realized we hadn't changed over to the new email address. Hence the delays. That is being fixed, and your comments should be appearing soon.

Changing to a new ISP and a new email address, and new host for my website has been -- challenging. Thank god for Corie and her team.