

This is a wonderful clip from the Colbert Report regarding Palin and her Tea Party speech. It's funny, but while you're laughing please keep in mind that this woman is scary dangerous. I'm with Andrew Sullivan on this. Given the climate in this country, the fact she refuses to talk to anyone but Fox News, the other media outlets keep giving her a pass on her constant and inexplicable lies, I think there is a decent chance that she will win the Republican nomination and potentially the White House. Again to quote Sullivan "know fear".

But as long as folks like Colbert and Stewart go after her maybe we can avoid that disaster, so enjoy. (I just put in a different link after Janice noticed the one I had was broken. We'll see if this works.)
